THE SPEAKERSHIP.

Congress meets Monday next. The absorbing theme is now the Speakership of the House of Representatives. The leading candidates of the Democratic majority are Randall, of Pennsylvania, and Carlisle, of Kentucky. The former is known to the country as an experienced parliamentarian who has served in the chair, and there is no reason for questioning the parliamentary ability of the latter. With the Democracy, the question is not so important as to the person for Speaker as to the principles to be represented where the power lies to put the national Democratic party on record by the committee appointments.

The leading issue between the two great parties is that of the tariff. Mr. Randall, without doubt would appoint a Ways and Means Committee that would see to it that so far as the Democracy is represented in Congress, the tariff question would not be reopened any further than the protection of special interests was concerned. Mr. Carlisle has entered the Speakership canvass as a candidate representing the avowed platform principle of the Democratic party of a "tariff only for revenue." What the people wish to know, is whether Mr. Randall or Mr. Carlisle is the real representative of the Democracy on the issue, and upon the selection of the Speaker they expect to draw an inference not far from the truth.

The national Democratic platform sustains the present position of Mr. Carlisle and it remains to be seen if the Democrats of the House have the courage to stand by it. If they have not, the people will believe that the professions of the Democracy are meaningless and will have good ground for refusing to trust the national administration in the hands of a party so recklessly misrepresenting itself. On the other hand, if the Democrats stand by their professions by electing a Speaker who will endeavor to have the tariff so adjusted by the House as to conform to the party's ideas, the people will be satisfied of Democratic sincerity on that question and will not neglect to record their own judgment at the elections in 1884.

We trust that the Republican Congressmen will not meddle in this Democratic contest, but let the Democrats settle it among themselves. In this matter at this time, they have more at risk than the public and the interests of the latter will be best subserved by allowing the Democrats to go squarely upon record on their proposed platform.

Representative Rosecrans has prepared a joint resolution, which he will introduce as soon as Congress meets, providing for a new amendment to the Constitution. His proposed amendment is as follows:

"Polygamy, being incompatible with our civilization, is hereby prohibited in the United States and all places under its jurisdiction. Congress shall have power to enforce this amendment by appropriate legislation."

An issue of $45,000,000 more stock is to be made by the Canada Pacific, which will then be the most heavily-capitalized of all the Pacific railroads. The Central Pacific has $59,275,500 capital stock; the Union Pacific, $61,000,000; the Southern Pacific (of California), $36,763,900; the Northern Pacific, $91,677,537; the Atchinson, Topeka and Santa Fe, $22,265,800.

The Grand Jury of Storey endorses the suggestion of the Co. Supt. of schools, that the Virginia City High School be reduced to a review of the Grammar School studies, and an elementary course in physiology, philosophy, chemistry and algebra.

Through sleepers will be put on the route between St. Louis and San Francisco by the way of the Iron Mountain, Texas and Pacific and Southern Pacific roads. This will make a run of 2,630 miles, the longest in the world.

A piece of an apartment house property, one hundred feet square, on Seventy-third street, east of Third avenue, New York, has been bought by Ulysses S. Grant, Jr., for $110,000.

Governor Newell, of Washington Territory, has signed the woman suffrage bill which passed the Legislature some days ago, and the law is now in force.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

Political Gossip from the National Capital.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 20, 1883.—There are now in Washington fully one half the members of Congress. Most of them are called here this early because of the interest involved in the organization of the House of Representatives. The election of a Speaker at this time is considered almost as significant as would be the nomination of a candidate for the Presidency. The Speakership is the most important office in the power of the Democratic party. It carries with it a sort of leadership; so that the Speaker because of the authority in his hands as a parliamentarian, is something of a dictator in party politics. It is thought by many, indeed, that the functions of this office permit the exercise of more autocratic power than pertains to any other office under the government, not excepting the Presidency itself. It may be interesting to glance at the reasons for this. The Constitution defines the authority and functions of each branch of the national assembly. The House of Representatives originates almost all important laws. Of course it is through the instrumentality of measures proposed, or already before Congress that politics are influenced. Parties divide on trade and political issues and grow fat or become lean according to the popularity of the measures advocated by them. Now the Speaker controls very largely the introduction and consideration of all measures proper to come before Congress. He is thus an arbiter of laws in some sense. As personal popularity goes with the advocacy of popular ideas, he is also able to forward the personal interests of his friends and to restrain the political efforts of them whom he may oppose. He exercises this authority not only as the presiding officer, with limited authority in the direction of recognizing those who he chooses to allow to be heard, but also in making up the committees.

These committees formulate the measures which are to be introduced for the action of Congress. The political sentiments of each member being known to the Speaker he can give authority to those who reflect the views which as a political leader, he desires to advocate. In a word he is in a position to control in a large degree, political legislation, and to promote the political fortunes of those whom he may see fit to favor. This long explanation will make clear the reasons why the organization of the House, now going on, is considered by members, of the first importance to the party, and to themselves.

In regard to who will be elected to this important place, I can give this exclusive item of news. The Speaker will be elected by the Democratic Representatives. On account of the delicate situation in which the party finds itself, members have not given their pledges to support either Carlisle, Randall or Cox, except in a few instances. It has now been determined to call a preliminary caucus of Democratic Representatives to meet in the Capitol building the last week in November to consider the attitude of the party, and to determine if possible upon a candidate who will pledge himself to a certain line of party policy, to be determined upon at that time. All speculations and claims previous to that date may be set down as the more sensational fictions of reporters of the newspapers. I turn from the consideration of the Speakership about which every one is talking, to quite another matter.

A few years ago, a pile of stone, often mistaken for an unfinished shot-tower, attracted the attention of those who looked towards the Potomac flats. It was the neglected Washington Monument which stood in an unfinished condition for twenty years, an epitome of the ingratitude of Republics. It was completed to 400 feet in height last week and is to-day the biggest thing in the country. It will be 550 feet high when finished, next Summer. It is contemplated to have a grand celebration of this event. The details of this affair will be left to the committee on public works who will present a bill to Congress reciting the intention, and asking for an appropriation to carry on the scheme on a basis which will give the celebration a national character.

Senator Morrill is quoted as opposed to any considerable reduction of the revenue, and as favoring a judicious expenditure of the surplus for the construction of a navy. Senator Sherman, on the contrary, desires to change the tariff so far, at least, as to increase the duty on wool. He claims that the Ohio wool interest was seriously injured by the late revision and agrees with Governor Sherman on the loss on wool growers in consequence was at least $1,000,000.

An effort is to be made to retain crippled war veterans on the House roll. This was done by the Republicans, in respect of party.

Guarding Garfield's Grave.

Col. A. F. Rockwell, who was one of the most intimate friends of the late President Garfield, has been interrogated concerning the published statement that he is exerting himself to secure the establishment of a permanent military post and guard at the grave of Garfield. Colonel Rockwell said it is not true; he had not done or said anything toward securing any such protection, but he was of the opinion the present military guard, or some other watch should be continued at the tomb until a permanent vault is constructed, and the remains securely placed beyond the reach of ghouls. It was of the utmost importance that the country should not be startled and horrified by the report of the desecration of the national grave, and he would be emphatically opposed to leaving the remains unprotected in their present exposed position. After the erection of the proposed monument there would be no necessity for a guard.

Postal Telegraphy.

A Washington special says: Senator Edmunds is preparing a Postal Telegraph bill, which he will submit to the Senate soon after Congress meets. His idea is to have trunk lines connecting the capitals of the various States, with the National Capital as the main center, and then have lines in the States radiate from the State Capitals to leading post-offices. He is opposed to the purchase of any existing lines, and has had consultations with telegraph experts and collected a mass of figures bearing upon the actual cost of building the telegraph lines. He has also examined the latest system of putting wires under ground. He called upon the President Wednesday and had an interview with him. It is not improbable the President may recommend a Postal Telegraph in his next message.

Grant Thinks the Republican Outlook Very Promising.

Grant, who was in Philadelphia Tuesday night, to attend the wedding of Miss Drexler, has returned to New York. He said to a reporter: "New York is certainly Republican when the party is undivided, and I don't see anything just now to divide it. It is idle even to hazard a guess at the probable Republican candidate for President. Ohio is still Republican in a Presidential year, and Pennsylvania is sure, therefore the outlook is very promising for the next year's contest. There is considerable talk of Tilden in New York as the one man who can carry the State, but can he? Are his friends not too sanguine?"

A Dental from Logan.

A Chicago Tribune's Washington special of November 28th says: The attention of Senator Logan was called this evening to a dispatch in which it was stated he would not support Arthur for renomination, and he was asked if he had anything to say upon the subject. He replied: "Nothing, except that there is no foundation for the paragraph, and the statement of my standing upon that question is entirely unauthorized. I have never expressed my views to a living man, and I do not intend to do so now."

Brewster and the Jury System.

In his forthcoming report Attorney General Brewster will devote himself principally to throwing the blame of the farcical failure of the Star Route cases upon other shoulders than his own. Among other things he will remark that the juries drawn from the District of Columbia are very poor, and will recommend that in cases of national importance, two citizens from each State in the Union be taken to make a list from which a panel should be drawn.

The New York Republicans.

The New York Tribune says: "The Republican enrollment in this city is a splendid success. The total of 23,641 names enrolled is nearly five times as many voters as took an active part in the old association. The action of the party in this city now, in all preliminary business of the canvass, may be considered as something like a fair representation of the opinions of the Republican party."

Will They Fight or Run Away?

Henry Waterson says: "The Democratic party has made a tariff record which it cannot escape. The question is, shall the party run away, pursued by the Republicans, or shall it stand its grounds, unfurl its flags and fight for its convictions?" The attitude of the Sun and World seems to confirm the belief that the party will run away.

HE WANTED A WIFE.

And Was Willing to Take One of General Sherman's Daughters.

The Chicago Tribune's St. Louis special of November 27th says: E. R. Buckland, a friend of Senator Logan's family, called on Mrs. Logan in Chicago a few days ago and during the conversation with the Senator's wife inquired if she knew of an eligible young lady for a wife. Mrs. Logan informed him that General Sherman had some attractive and worthy daughters. He immediately wrote to the brave Tecumseh, proposing for the hand of one of his daughters, followed the letter with a call at the Sherman mansion Tuesday, and to the servant announced that he wished to see the General on urgent business. When ushered into the presence of the General he inquired if the latter had received his letter proposing marriage to one of his daughters. The General followed this unexpected and comic information by a flank movement on the duke, whom he seized by his pants and assisted to the side walk. The "fresh" youth turned to the General and said: "I can whip you, Grant and Sheridan," and invited the old veteran out on the side walk, which invitation was refused.

The New El Dorado.

There is great excitement throughout Western Montana over the rich mineral discoveries in the Clear d'Alene Mountains. Miners and prospectors who have returned state that there has been nothing in the history of the Western States and Territories equal to the richness and volume of the newly-discovered fields. The minerals consist of silver, tellurium and free milling gold. Over $100 per man per day is being taken out of the rim rock of the gulches, while in the gulches $25 to $40 per man per day is being panned out. The streams are in the southern part of Idaho. Eagle City is situated forty miles from Heron, on the Northern Pacific Railway. There are now about 500 people in the camp.

A Monstrosity.

In the eastern part of Georgia, on the Oconee river, a negro woman has given birth to a monstrosity, which has two separate, distinct and well-formed faces, one set of arms and lower limbs, two teeth in each mouth, the heads well covered with hair, and the two thoroughly united, and all the features so far mentioned belonging to a properly developed child, save the union of heads. But the body in front is only one, although two spinal columns are in the back, and its shoulders and limbs are covered with hair, fine and silky.

Paradise Mill Burned.

The Paradise mill, situated in the Paradise mines, fifty miles north from Winnemucca, burned down last Monday night. The fire is supposed to have originated from sparks from the retort, as they were retorting bullion at the time. It was a ten stamp mill and had been insured for $20,000, though a part of the insurance had not been renewed and only $10,000 is good at the present time. The loss of the mill throws several persons out of employment.

Another Centennial.

Preparations are being made in New York to celebrate December 4th, the centennial anniversary of Washington's farewell to his officers at Francis' Tavern, at corner of Pearl and Broad streets. A dinner or turtle feast will be served in the old style at 5 o'clock in the afternoon, in the house, which is still standing.

Senator Sherman told a correspondent Wednesday night that there was no doubt but that the Republicans would reorganize the Senate. He said the votes of Mahone and Riddleberger could be depended on by the Republicans to effect a reorganization. When asked if George Gorham would be elected Secretary of the Senate, Sherman answered: "I don't know who will be elected, but I do know the Democrats about the Senate will all be superseded by Republicans." The general impression is that Mahone and Riddleberger will insist on Gorham's election, otherwise, they will not vote with the Republicans and thus bring about the desired reorganization.

Senators Mahone and Riddleberger say that the Virginia Bourbons will not be able to carry out their plans of unseating Readjusters enough in the Legislature to secure a two-thirds vote. Col. Brady, Chairman of the Republican State Committee, says the Bourbons will stop at nothing to accomplish their purpose. He says the Danville massacre lost to the Readjusters 50,000 votes.

An Important Official.

Hon. N. C. McFarland, Commissioner of the General Land Office of the United States is clothed with more general responsibility than the President. He has the practical control of the Government's vast domain, caring for the rights of the millions who seek homes under the magnanimous acts of Congress; distributing among the railroad companies the millions of acres granted to them as subsidies, superintending the surveys and subdivisions, keeping the original records of title to land covering an entire country, and deciding with judicious discretion the slightest details of the vast business that comes before him in the shape of appeals from the land offices distributed throughout the country. He was born in Pennsylvania in 1822 and is a lawyer by profession.

The Washington Statue.

Thousands visited the new Washington statue Tuesday. It is stated that the Chamber of Commerce will ask the United States Government to place a permanent military guard over the statue. In adjusting the old slab, upon which Washington stood, in its present place, portions of the end had to be chipped off. Collector Robertson was presented with one of the small pieces two or three days ago, and he showed it to Harry Villard, who happened to call at the Custom House.

"That is quite a treasure," said Villard; "will you allow me to break off a piece?"

"Well, I don't think I ought to permit that," replied the Collector.

"I will tell you what I will do," said Villard; "I will give you a piece of the golden spike driven by me when the Northern Pacific Railroad was completed for a piece of the stone."

"I will think that proposition over," said the Collector.

Blaine and the Surplus Revenue.

The Philadelphia Press contains a letter from James G. Blaine to Charles Emery Smith, editor of the Press, stating Blaine's objections to a distribution of the surplus revenue of the Federal Government among the States, and proposing as a substitute, if the national Government no longer needs the tax on spirits, that the entire amount it yields be paid to the States.

Rev. Warren H. Cadworth, pastor of the church of Our Savior, (Unitarian) of East Boston, dropped dead while taking part in the services at Manerick Church.

A pacific solution of the Tonquin question is now regarded possible. England is exercising her influence with France and China for a peaceable settlement.

Waterson again swears that Tilden is not in the field, and that those who connect his name with the Presidency only display their own ignorance.

Professor Nordenskjold, the Swedish Arctic explorer, is planning an expedition to the South pole in 1885.

Having Admitted the Strength of the Evidence, an Eminent Physician takes Logical Action.

The following letter tells its own story. The signature will be recognized as that of the Physician-in-Chief of the De Quincey Home, and author of "Drugs That Enslave," "The Hypodermic Injection of Morphine," "A Manual of Nursing," and many other popular and valuable special medical works:

181 WEST TENTH STREET, NEW YORK, AUGUST 11, 1880.
GENTLEMEN:—Like most of my profession, I am cautious about pinning my faith to any new medicine or curative agent. But your BENSON'S CAPSINE POROUS PLASTER has broken through the barriers and won its way on my good opinion. My attention was first called to it some eight months ago by a patient of mine. Although I was well acquainted with the profession, the Benson's was comparatively new to me. I had heard, however, of its merits as a remedy, in cases of Lame Back, Local Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Congestion of the Bronchial Tubes and Lungs, Dyspepsia, Torpid Liver and the like affections, and have since begun to experiment with it personally. And BENSON'S CAPSINE PLASTER an exceptionally cleanly plaster to use, and rapid in its action.

Many tests of its qualities, made in my own family and among my patients, have convinced me that there is no other single article so valuable for popular use, nor so helpful in the diseases I have named.

Should you desire to do so, you may use my name to that effect.

Very truly yours,

H. H. KANE, A. M., M. D.

IN AND OUT OF TOWN

What is Being Said and Done in a Small Way.

A. H. Manning has just returned from a trip to the Bay.

Alvaro Evans ate his Thanksgiving dinner in the Pyramid mine.

Gen. Kittrell is at home again and the "backboard racket" will soon begin.

The United State Fish Commissioner has supplied the Smoky and Monitor Valley farmers with 500 young carp.

Wells, Fargo & Co. are distributing photographs of Black Bart among those interested in the doings and capture of the famous highwayman.

C. S. Varian came in from Salt Lake Thursday morning to spend Thanksgiving with his family. He will remain a few days.

Col. Frank Osbiston arrived from Colorado yesterday morning and continued on to the Comstock, where he will remain four or five days.

Bishop Whitaker returned from the East yesterday morning. The Seminary pupils were at the depot to welcome him.

Everybody praises the Thanksgiving dinner given by the ladies of the W. O. T. U. The JOURNAL is gratified to learn that it was also a financial success.

R. H. Lindsay did not get off for Churchill yesterday, having received word that the case in which he is counsel had been postponed until the 12th.

James Cross, Supt. of the Holmes, the mine which lately grabbed up the Northern Belle in a Courtly manner, was in town last night, en route to Wadsworth.

George Cutting, who has been traveling through the northern country for the past year, in the interest of Knowles & Bainbridge, is at Lovelock's, on his way home.

H. C. Palmer, returned from Winnemucca Thanksgiving morning. He will go back there in the Spring, as he is partially engaged to put up some more good buildings.

Lolla and Belle Harris, daughters of Dr. E. B. Harris, of Virginia, are attending Bishop Whitaker's school, in Reno, and both were on the roll of honor for September and October.

The Eureka Sentinel of Wednesday, has this: Gen. John R. Kittrell leaves for Reno to-day. He is an out and out candidate for Congress. We would endorse the General at once if it were not for his war record.

Since the return of Shoemaker from the Bay, the show window of Osburn & Shoemaker has been re-arranged and filled with samples of the charming articles purchased by Mr. S. and intended for holiday presents.

Special Agent Laders, of the Interior Department, is in Utah investigating Indian affairs for the information of the Department. It is understood that the agent will extend his inquiries through the Pacific States and Territories.

BREVITIES.

There are two prisoners in the county jail on charges of felony, one for horse stealing and the other for burglary.

Postmaster Chas. M. Fassett, of Ruby Hill, came in to Reno to eat Thanksgiving turkey with his parents. He will return home tomorrow.

The Austin Reveille says: The Reno JOURNAL is running a large quantity of original and well-selected reading matter, making it altogether a good, readable paper.

Mr. Varian informs the JOURNAL that the projected change in the proprietorship of the Salt Lake Tribune has taken place, and that Judge Goodwin and Pat Lannan now own three-fifths of the paper.

As a sample of what Wadsworth can produce in the way of vegetables, Jake Lewis has sent to Chase & Thyes a specimen of what he calls "Jewish turnips," which is a monster vegetable growth and an absolute curiosity.

A drunken Indian started in for a war dance on the street yesterday morning. He was collared by Henry Henderson, who entertained him in a rough-and-tumble sort of a way until an officer appeared on the scene and conveyed him to the lock-up.

There was a large crowd in attendance at the ball given by Junior Hose Company Thursday night, and the dancing was kept up from an early hour in the evening until 4 o'clock in the morning. The party was carried through without a jar, and all left the dance well pleased.

For the past week or two there has been a noticeable increase in the number of people on the streets and in and about the business houses. The reason is that the cold weather has driven many out of the mountains who are away all Summer and return to Reno to spend the Winter.

The Pyramid Bonanza.

Another bit of cheering news comes from Pyramid. It will be remembered that the big tunnel cut into the ledge without encountering any ore worthy of mention, at least none but very low grade. Quite recently one side of the tunnel, near the end, caved off about two feet, exposing a body of rich black ore. From the pitch of this ore it appears the tunnel run over it, and that had the tunnel been run a few feet lower, or a few feet farther to the south it would have cut into the ore channel. This is an excellent illustration of the chance work of mining. Had the company stopped work when they failed to find rich ore in the ledge where the big tunnel cut into it, as they had serious thoughts of doing at the time, the probabilities are that what promises to be one of the biggest mines in the State would have remained undeveloped for years, and possibly for all time. Should the mine ultimately prove to be the bonanza it now gives unmistakable evidence of being, much of the credit for its development is due to the bull-dog tenacity and perseverance of Jim Kinkaid, the Foreman, who persuaded and encouraged the company to continue the work in a small way after the big tunnel was completed.

Establish a Grade.

There are few towns in the country the size of Reno that has not an established grade for its streets and sidewalks. The evil of haphazard building is never seriously felt until the town grows beyond control. This has been too long neglected in Reno. Where no official grade is established, property owners are forced to use their own judgment in the matter when building, and as a result, our sidewalks lack the beauty of uniformity. Should such a grade be established now, it would not be expected that property owners should at once conform to it, but any new buildings could, and would cheerfully conform to it, and in the course of time, when it becomes necessary to replace the present sidewalks with new ones, they could be easily raised or lowered a few inches to conform to the established grade. Reno is no longer a village, and is constantly growing, and what can be arranged now without cost to anyone, if neglected, may be the source of much annoyance and expense in the future.

The Robbery of the Storey County Treasury.

In the matter of the robbery of the treasury the Grand Jury of Storey county report as follows: "In the matter of the robbery of the County Treasury, said to have occurred on the evening of October 30 last, we have sent for every person whom we have from time to time been led to believe could throw any light on the investigation, and carefully and diligently examined them, taking down all important testimony in writing, the files of which are preserved and submitted with this report. We have, by committee, examined the books and accounts of Dennis Nevin, the Treasurer, and as far as practicable examined all persons with whom he has had dealings since the first day of January last. Nothing has been omitted on our part in our endeavors to obtain some clue to the robbery. The result of our work is that we are unable to find any evidence that will justify a criminal charge against any person in connection with the case.

We, however, suggest that this case be made an exception to the rule or experience of the past in this county and State in such cases; and that the several bondsmen of the County Treasurer be compelled, as far as possible, to make good to the county their pro rata of the loss sustained through the robbery."

Mistook the Letter.

When in Reno the forepart of the week, Judge Boyman, of Verdi, purchased a ticket for the Thanksgiving ball. He consulted the ticket, instead of his almanac or the Thanksgiving manifesto of Governor Adams, and mistaking a shaded figure nine for an eight, concluded that the official day for Thanksgiving was on the 28th, and accordingly arranged a sumptuous feast for the patrons of his hotel on that day, and invited them all in, together with a number of his friends and neighbors. After the dinner was over and the crowd had dispersed, the Judge hitched up his team and came down to Reno to join in the dance, and was not aware of his mistake until he arrived and found that he was a day ahead of time, and that the boys were not ready for him. He says he and his friends enjoyed the dinner full as well as though it had been eaten a day later, but was not pleased with the idea of making two trips in order to take in the dance.

Won't Have It.

The people of Wyoming Territory are on the war path, so to speak. Some clever correspondent of the New York papers has been indulging in unfavorable criticisms on the question of woman suffrage in that Territory, at which the people became profoundly indignant, and denounce the writer and the papers that approvingly published his letters in unmeasured terms. An Associated Press dispatch from Cheyenne, evidently intended as a sort of refutation of the slander, says "Woman suffrage is regarded as a good thing here, and it would be death to any political aspirant to oppose it. Action will probably be taken to disabuse the minds of the public against the wrong impression made. All the leading and intelligent citizens favor the suffrage. Many are not in favor of women holding office, but everybody is nearly a unit in regard to their voting."

A High-Toned Nevada Wedding at the Bay.

Hon. M. D. Foley, of Eureka, Nevada, was married Wednesday morning at Grace Church, San Francisco, to Miss Minnie Griffin, also of Eureka. The ceremony was attended by a large and highly fashionable assemblage, many of whom came from remote portions of the State, including a large representation from Nevada. On the conclusion of the ceremony an informal reception was held at the Palace Hotel, where the invited guests partook of a wedding breakfast. Mr. and Mrs. Foley left for the East the same afternoon on a honeymoon trip, and will visit St. Paul, Minnesota, where the mother of Mr. Foley lives, and from there they will go to New York and Washington. They expect to return to Nevada the latter part of February.

Found With the Stolen Goods.

The individual who robbed Capt. Bragg's residence last week is believed to have been identified in the person of Charley Sprouts. He was arrested on suspicion soon after the robbery, but failing to obtain any positive evidence against him he was discharged. He was shadowed by the officers for a day or two when he left for Truckee. The officers of that town were notified of his coming, and on his arrival they arrested him and found all the stolen jewelry on him, except the diamond ring. He was returned to Reno where he waived an examination and was committed to await the action of the Grand Jury. There seems to be little doubt of his guilt.

Johnny Myers monopolized the sidewalk in front of his drug store yesterday in unpacking holiday goods.

Our Beautiful Sunsets.

The sunsets for the past week or ten days have been unusually pretty, and have attracted universal attention. A gentleman, says the San Francisco Bulletin, who is greatly interested in science, and who has given considerable attention to the subject of atmospheric phenomena, states that the recent peculiar sunsets are, without much doubt, due to the late volcanic eruption in Alaska. Ashes from that eruption have been carried all over Japan and beyond, and similar coloring of the skies have been observed there. During the eruption in Java similar coloring was exhibited in different parts of the world, and as far east as Panama. The beauty of many of the Italian sunsets are held to be due to ashes from volcanoes and from dust from the desert. Our own sunsets, therefore, are supposed to have been caused by the particles of ashes coming from the Alaskan volcano. These are carried in the upper currents of the air, and form, as it were, a canopy. In the ordinary position the sunlight passes through this stratum without producing a visible effect; but when the light is below the stratum, as at sunrise or sunset, and the rays strike the under surface of the ash-laden current, the solid particles form an extended reflecting surface. The sunlight is thus thrown back upon the earth, and causes the beautiful sunsets which have been so much admired.

WOMAN AND HER DISEASES

is the title of a large illustrated treatise, by Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., sent to any address for three stamps. It teaches successful self-treatment.

A Card.

William Pinniger tenders his best thanks to his numerous friends, and the public generally, for the very liberal support accorded him in the past, and he begs to inform them that he has again effected a co-partnership with R. E. Queen, at the old stand, and respectfully invites a continuance of their patronage. The new firm have added largely to their stock of drugs, chemicals, patent medicines, wines and liquors for medicinal purposes; toilet and fancy articles, etc. In the dispensing departments they make a specialty of physicians' prescriptions and family receipts, bringing to their already large experience the latest achievements in scientific pharmacy, and are prompt in filling all orders entrusted to them.
